FIU HONORS COLLEGE ITALY PROGRAM
MAY 04 - 27, 2010
HONORS.FIU.EDU/ITALY

Program Description:

The Honors College at FIU has been conducting study abroad programs to Europe continuously since 1994; the 2010 program will be the 13th trip to Italy. The Honors College Italy Program is an interdisciplinary study-travel experience that is open to students of all majors. FIU Honors College students may use the courses to complete one year of honors curriculum requirements and subsequently have priority admission into the program. The 2010 program will take a limited number of participants to three cities as centers of investigation on this academic journey. They are Rome, Florence, and Padua.

Courses:

Students participating in the FIU Honors College Italy Program must register for the 3 credit hour pre-trip seminar in the Spring 2009 term at University Park, and the 3 credit hour “in-country” course in the Summer-A term in Italy. This means that if you are a native FIU student and are just entering upper division in the Honors curriculum, you might not be taking an IDH course in the Fall of 2008 (speak to an advisor). While in Italy, students are lectured in the field by the faculty, give one “expert for the day talk” on a topic chosen with the directors, and complete a final exam. Students are afforded the opportunity to extend their travels after the program concludes in Italy.
